In 2015, Angels' Arms piloted a new program focused on teenagers and young adults as they prepare to transition out of the foster care system. Key program components include matching youth with trained mentors, group meetings for the teens, individualized assistance, and life skills training. The program builds on the success that Angels' Arms has experienced with some of the youth who have previously lived in Angels' Arms homes and regularly uses input from current and former foster children to help shape and improve the program. It is anticipated that teenagers in the program will graduate from high school with a plan for the future and the tools and resources for success as they go to work or to school.
